Gull Lakers' Hold Annual Regatta

Race No. 24, the Canoe Gunwale, where the competitors stand on the sides of the canoes was an experiment this year and proved to be one of the most interesting and amusing of all the races. The President, Mr. J. A. Noice, Vice-President, Mr. F. C. Fielding, and their sport committees are to be congratulated on the success of the affair. Although Mr. Noice did his best to advertise the new date it is regretted that more of the Gull Lake residents were not present. Regrets were expressed on all sides at the absence of the Pittsburgers' for such names as Monda and Milford Vezie are still remembered from other years.

The enthusiasm that was already bubbling nicely boiled over when Mr. Noice announced that in addition to the Trophy Cup, the ninety pounds of chocolates and other prizes there were fifteen medals in the bat—five each of gold, silver and bronze, most generously donated by Mr. Lackie of Sunset Point.

Messrs. O. Hoidge, F. C. Fielding, Prof. Crerar, and Prof. Treadgold rendered judgment in the matter of the distribution of all this loot with what seemed satisfaction to all. In order to stimulate competition in future events Prof. Banting clocked the races with his stop watch. His results coupled with the known lengths of the courses will enable would-be winners to set out their own buoys and time their own practice work and possibly set new records next year.

Ex-president Mundy altho not taking part in the races as usual nevertheless worked harder than ever being constantly on the move in fulfilling his duties as starter.

When the time came to decide who should become possessed of Mr. Fielding's presents of chocolates, a fine two and one pound box, Mrs. Treadgold succeeded in capturing two of these prizes. It was of course impossible for one person to have two prizes so she returned one to be reallocated. Prof. Treadgold won it the second time which made everything quite all right.

The following list shows the points won by the best of the racers:—Lyndsie Bedlington, cup, 233; J. W. Melson 204; Jimmie Bedlington, gold medal, 16; Jean Crerar, gold medal, 143; Lois Mundy, gold medal, 11; Mr. G. Black, gold medal, 11; Jimmie Minto, gold medal, 104. Silver Medalists—Nora Mundy, Helen Treadgold, Dan Lackie, Don Treadgold. Glen Mundy and Harry Lackie tied for the fifth silver medal. When it is decided who shall keep this prize the other party will receive the corresponding bronze medal. Bronze Medalists—Audrey Bedlington, Eleanor Crerar, Sylvia Melson, Mary Lackie and Dorothy Hoidge tied for the fifth bronze medal.

Young Dan Lackie seemed to be the life of the party. He went right into every event where he had any chance at all and the silver pendant is his just reward.

The absence of Jack Earl was much deplored. However we expect that next year he will lower several of the records just set.

Progressive Meeting

Political campaigning began in this locality on Saturday night when J. I. Thurston, Ex-M.P., the Progressive candidate, held a meeting in the Town Hall, Minden. He was accompanied by Mr. Murchison, of Fenelon Falls, entertainer. The meeting was fairly well attended. T. H. Stinson, K.C., the opposing candidate, was present but declined an invitation to speak. Mr. Thurston will hold another meeting here before the campaign closes.

Fined For Operating Still

At a session of the County Police Court, held on Wednesday, and presided over by Police Magistrate Jordan, of Minden, an Italian named Ricci faced a charge laid by the Inland Revenue Department of having a still in his possession.

The defendant, who was represented by Mr. I. E. Weldon, pleaded guilty, and was fined $500.00, and costs.

Ricci, who figured as a witness for the defence in the recent trial of one of the Biagi brothers, was fined, and also received a sentence for selling liquor, and also a seven months' sentence for carrying a gun for unlawful purposes.—Post.

All advertising matter must be in this office by Wednesday noon.

Haliburton Happenings

Mr. Ross Hudgins is home from Toronto where he has been for a few weeks taking the Summer School Course in Physical Culture.

Miss Evelyn Hamilton, of Keswick, spent a few days in the village last week, leaving on the tourist train last Sunday evening. She has received her home school where she will be the principal.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Dart and family are visiting friends in the village. He took a trip to Lindsay yesterday and had his father, Mr. Fred Dart, removed to his home here. Mr. Dart has been in the Ross Memorial Hospital for nearly a year. We trust the change will benefit him.

Mr. Grant Thompson, of Detroit, was called home last week owing to the illness of his mother.

Mrs. McCaw, and children of Toronto, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roberts, Sr., and other friends in the village.

Mrs. George Murray, her son Stanley, and daughter Evelyn, and a lady friend, all of Woodville, visited last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Nichol. Miss Evelyn has secured the Gelert school for 1926-27.

Miss Clarke, postmistress, and Miss Bain, who have been holidaying for several weeks near Port Dover, are home again after a pleasant visit with friends there.

Mr. Grimmett, lawyer of Edmonton, who half a century ago taught school in Stanhope, accompanied by his son, Dr. Grimmett, of Detroit, visited the village on Friday. He told your correspondent thanks for the walk from Stanhope to Haliburton to receive instruction from Mr. Wm. Leith in order to secure his third class certificate, and that he had the most kind recollections of Mr. Leith and the great help it was to him afterward. He went west, secured his first class, then studied law. He is camping for a short time at Maple Lake.

Mrs. Foster died at the home of her son-in-law, Mr. Ernest Boice, in the village, on Thursday, 12th inst., and the funeral took place to Maple Lake Cemetery. Most of her family were unable to be present owing to living so far away. One son, Nelson Stevens, of West Guilford, and two daughters, Mrs. Ernest Boice, of the village of Haliburton, and Mrs. Wesley Boice, of Maple Lake, were present.

Another resident of the district, Mrs. William Thompson, passed away at the home of her son-in-law, Mr. John Watt, of the village, on Sunday 15th, and was buried in Maple Lake Cemetery on Monday evening. Besides her aged husband she leaves to mourn their loss, three sons, Grant of Detroit, Rollie of Huntsville, Howard, of Maple Lake, and one daughter, Mrs. John Watt, of Haliburton village.

A number of our citizens attended the circus at Lindsay last week.

The band concert on August 12th brought a full house to the Town Hall in spite of the terrific thunderstorm.

The Prime Minister of Ontario, who is also Minister of Education, is expected to visit Haliburton next month. Watch for the date. Haliburton School Board has every reason to welcome him.

We are pleased to hear that Mrs. Elmer Pearsall, who has been in the Lindsay Hospital for some time, returned home Saturday feeling much better.

The many friends of Mr. Jas. Fearrey were delighted to see him celebrating the 12th of August with the younger members of his family.

Splendid Parade at Haliburton Village

One of the most successful of pleasure days in Haliburton was enjoyed on August 12th, 1926. A day, threatening rain in the morning, turned out fine until evening.

The Calithumpian Parade was a wonder, both in decoration, original ideas, splendour and comings.

The parade was headed by James Dean, mounted on an enormous rooster, who was indeed "cock of the walk", followed by the Haliburton Brass Band, which is the pride of the village.

Next came a very beautiful string of decorated cars and merchant vehicles representing Haliburton Lumber Co. and Robertson Bros. The centre of the procession was a beautifully decorated float representing a Red Cross sailing ship in full sail. This ship was accompanied by twenty C.G.I.T. girls in their picturesque sailors' costumes. The float was driven by Mr. A. Batchelor dressed as a skipper, while Mrs. Cluff was with him dressed in her C.G.I.T. uniform.

Haliburton's chief industry was represented by Alvin Walling driving a float containing a good supply of moonshine and a still in operation. His supply was "sold out" before reaching the judging grounds. Two decorated dogs were in line, and a bridal car driven by William Nichol. W. R. Curry's Oldsmobile was worthy of mention both for style, decoration and the wonderful control of the driver in handling his car; Walter Roberts, of Chicago, also had a nice car. There were two very good buggy outfits, one driven by a rabbit who expressed "thanks for the buggy ride"; the West Guilford Trustee Board float was a scream to those who knew the facts of its origin but to the outsider it would appear tame. The climax of the procession which should be given the credit for originality, humor, size, sarcasm and general all-round nonsense, was a representation of the Canadian National train "Haliburton's Special", ably driven by John Gregory, with Norman Roberts as fireman, conductor and brakeman. The train consisted of a Fordson tractor, a wagon load of lumber, a wagon load of logs, a stock wagon, a democrat and a buggy, all of which were loaded with the younger generation of Haliburton, and the train acted up to its schedule by arriving at the grounds several minutes late owing to a breakdown.

The Children's Excursion

Mr. Pentland wishes us to announce that, on Sunday, August 29th, Mr. W. R. Curry, Haliburton, will go down the Buckhorn Road to Gooderham, thence along the Monk Road via Tory Hill to Wilberforce, thence back to Haliburton, and will bring all children who wish to come to Haliburton at one dollar each. On returning, children will change cars at Howland, taking the regular train for their homes. Girls who come to Haliburton from any part of the Country will sleep in the upstairs part of the Town Hall, Haliburton, and the boys downstairs. Mrs. Pentland will be with the girls all night, and Mr. Pentland with the boys. Children will not bring kodaks, or any other parcel not needed on the trip. Parents are warned that no opportunity will be given the children to shop or to visit friends in the City, but anyone wishing to visit any of the children are invited to St. Andrew's Institute, (connected with St. Andrew's Church), King St., any time after seven o'clock, on Tuesday, August 31st. Mr. Curry will be at Gooderham at two o'clock on the afternoon of Sunday, 29th, and at Wilberforce about an hour later. Parents are asked to write Mr. Pentland at once telling him if their children will come with Mr. Curry, as Mr. Curry will not make the trip unless some children are reported as coming that way.

Here and There

Tremendously rapid development of forest and water power resources of the Province of Quebec is indicated in the forecast of revenue totalling $6,000,000 from these sources for the current year. Last year the same resources produced a revenue of nearly $4,500,000.

Sixty men from the training camps in Brandon and Claydon, England, have been accepted by the Canadian Government and sailed on the "Empress of France" at the end of June. They proceeded to Winnipeg after landing at Quebec and will be placed on specially selected farms.

Saskatchewan exported last year 77.4 per cent. of its total production of creamery butter, according to a statement made by the Provincial Dairy Commissioner. The increase in production in 1925 over that of 1920 had amounted to 126.8 per cent., the output last year totalling 15,946,233 pounds.

Close on one hundred pilgrims from St. Paul and Minneapolis passed through Montreal recently on their way to the famous shrine of Ste. Anne de Beaupre, near Quebec. They were the advance guard of the great army of pilgrims that visit the shrine every year. While stopping off in Montreal they visited the St. Joseph Oratory in that city, also well-known as a shrine.

Hundreds of students and co-eds from Canadian and American universities have been passing through Montreal recently to board ships for Europe in connection with the Overseas Collegiate Tours that have grown increasingly popular of late years. Many of these collegians travel by Canadian Pacific boats, the "Empress of France" on a recent trip carrying over 250 of them.

Clad in gorgeous scarlet tunics, plentifully decorated with gold braid, forty members of the world-famous Coldstream Guards Band, of London, reached Quebec recently on the Canadian Pacific liner "Montcalm" on their third visit to Canada, having been here in 1904 and again in 1911. Under the command of Lieutenant R. G. Evans they will play at Brandon, Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Regina, Vancouver and the Toronto Exhibition.

The electrification of the main line of the Imperial Japanese Government Railway system from Tokio to Shimonoseki, 750 miles, has been long projected, and recently the 45-mile section between Tokio and Odawara has had experimental trains drawn by electric locomotives run twice a day between these points. Owing to the great expense involved it is feared it will be many years before the entire main line can be electrified.

A NEW & BETTER FURNACE At a Sensational Price

Gilson's of Guelph now offer you a perfected furnace—clean or pipe style—at a sensational price. The first revolutionary improvement in home heating in half a century—low priced, efficient, quickly installed in any home, school or church.

Costs Less to Buy—Less to Use

The new Gilson "Magic" is built of Tungsten Plate. Transmits heat THREE TIMES faster. Patented air-blast burns all the gas and smoke. New type cone-shaped grate gets more heat units out of fuel. Electric arc welding seals the furnace tight as an egg against leaks of gas, dust or smoke.

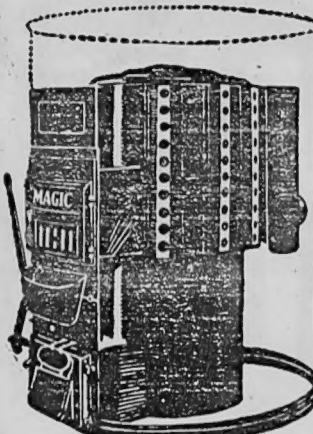

Burns Hard or Soft Coal, Coke or Wood
 You are not dependent upon hard coal alone as you get excellent results from any kind of fuel—soft coal, coke, oil or gas. You enjoy an extra saving by using low cost fuels.

Write for Easy Payment Plan
 A moderate payment down installs the new Gilson "Magic." Learn all the features of this new sensationally-priced heating system. We will welcome your inquiry. Catalogue, sketch plan forms, estimates and full information, gladly supplied without obligating you in any way. Act at once—this is the time to make plans for heating your home properly.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. George A. Rogers and family wish to express their sincere thanks to the friends and neighbors for kindness and sympathy shown at the time of their recent bereavement.

Wrecked Car
Used as Exhibit

Messrs. J. H. Wyse and H. Lynn Hudson, of the Ontario Safety League, were in Cannington on Wednesday morning looking up the remnants of Mr. Les. Cliff's coupe. This was the automobile that was wrecked in the level crossing accident at Gamebridge last week.

The Ontario Safety League intend having it placed in their exhibit, and it will be situated near the entrance of the new Province of Ontario Building, so it will leave an impression on thousands of drivers who attend the National Exhibition this year.

OBITUARY

SAMUEL GOULDIE

On Wednesday morning, August 11, 1926, there passed peacefully to the Great Beyond one of our pioneers in the person of Samuel Gouldie, aged 83 years, who came to this country about 60 years ago and was one of the earliest settlers in Minden Township.

His wife predeceased him fourteen years ago. He then made his home with his daughter, Mrs. George McKelvey practically all the time until his death. He had always been in good health and was smart until about seven months ago, when his foot became affected with gangrene and he suffered a great deal of pain up until his death.

He leaves to mourn his loss three sons John and Reid of Minden and Walter of Carbon, Alta.; four daughters, Mrs. Geo. McKelvey and Mrs. Wm. Harrison of Minden, and Mrs. Lan Hay and Mrs. Johnson McCracken in Carbon Alta., two brothers, Archie, of Dwight, and Alex. at Foam Lake, Sask.

Service was held on Thursday afternoon at Mr. George McKelvey's, which was largely attended by friends and neighbors who came to pay their last respects. The service was conducted by Rev. Parker. Interment took place in Minden Cemetery, his six grandsons being the pallbearers, namely, Herb, Walter, Bert, Norman and Harold McKelvey and Lee Harrison.

The floral offerings were: Wreath from sons and daughters; wreath from Gouldie Family of Dwight; sprays from Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barton, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Trumbull, Mrs. Gordon Trumbull and Miss Emma Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Johnson, McKelvey boys.

MRS. WILLIAM McELWAIN

On Sunday, August 1st, there passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jos. Walker, in Hope Township, County of Durham, at the age of 90 years and 9 months, one of the oldest pioneers of Snowdon Township, in the person of Eliza Stinson, relict of the late William McElwain.

The late Mrs. McElwain was born in Cavan Township, County of Durham, in the year 1835. In the year 1859 she became the wife of Wm. McElwain, of Emily township, County of Victoria and shortly after they moved to the township of Snowdon, County of Haliburton, when the whole region was a dense forest. With patient labour they made for themselves a comfortable home where she resided until the time of her husband's death in 1910. After that she lived most of the time with her daughters in Toronto and Hope Township. The late Mrs. McElwain was a devoted member of the Methodist Church, a kind and lovable person, respected by all who knew her. She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Jos. Walker, Garden Hill; Mrs. L. Empey, Toronto; Mrs. E. Harrison, Silver Lake; and three sons, Thomas of Kinmount; and Robert and William of Gelert; There is also one brother, Mr. Thomas Stinson, of Lindsay.

On Tuesday, August 3rd, she was laid to rest in the Gelert Cemetery beside her late husband. The floral tributes were many and beautiful.

MARRIED

FLETCHER - FETTERLY - At the United Church, Haliburton, on Saturday evening, August 14th, 1926, Mable Letrecca Fetterly, of Haliburton, to Thomas Wilbert Fletcher, of Eldon Station, Rev. C. C. Miller officiating.

Reginald Frank Stone

St. Catharines, Ont.—"During my first expectant period I was in very poor health, was very nervous, suffered from morning sickness, had backache and abdominal pains. I was as miserable as could be. Thru a friend I learned of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and after I began taking it I got along fine; it relieved me of the morning sickness, pains and distress thru my back and sides and I grew well and strong. Was able to do my own work the remainder of the time. I experienced very little suffering and had a fine healthy baby, who has never had a day's sickness except slight colds. I was very glad to know of a medicine so valuable as the 'Prescription' proved to be."—Mrs. Reginald Stone, 68 Haynes Ave. All dealers.

THE WAX LADY

PART I.

Upon the north side of Hyde Park, against the railings, stand a few benches on which, when it is fine, elderly people take the air. Upon my wanderings I sometimes investigate this spot, for people who await the dawn in such places are sometimes interesting. Thus, one night, as I was loafing about my hunting ground, I perceived coming toward me a strangely formed shape, something rather low upon its legs, the upper part of which was bulky. As it came closer, I saw that it was a small man carrying a bundle. I went toward him, so as to benefit by the lights of Victoria Gate, and saw that the bundle was a sack which the man with difficulty bore upon his right shoulder. Now people carrying sacks at night are usually engaged upon uninteresting removals, notably fleeing from the landlord, but the police are perpetually interested in them, because burglars are given to carrying the fruits of their trade. Thus, just as the little man reached the gate, the policeman on duty stepped forward and stopped him.

"Hullo, mate," said the policeman, in a friendly tone, "what's that you've got? Is it heavy?"

"Weighs about a ton," said the little man.

"Where are you going to on shanks' pony?"

"Acton."

"That's a long way. What have you got in that sack, mate?"

"What's it got to do with you?"

sneered the little man. He burst into shrill denunciations: "Was this a free country? Couldn't a man go his own way without being interfered with by a lot of cops? Then he seemed to realize that he was making himself suspect. His tone changed, suddenly grew honeyed. He brought the sack down to the ground and remarked to the policeman: "After all, I don't mind your seeing what I've got, nousey Parker." He untied the cord; the sack fell down in folds. I took a step back, filled with horror; from the sack emerged the head and shoulders of a beautiful girl. The policeman, too, stepped back. What increased my horror and puzzled me was that the beautiful head was hairless.

The little man must have perceived our feelings, for in a soothing tone he added: "It ain't a corpse." The policeman gingerly touched the rosy cheek. "It's wax," he went on, pulling down the sack so that we might see that under the dazzling neck and shoulders, which shone ghastly under the moon, the body was represented by a low wooden frame, over which canvas was tightly stretched.

"Oh," said the policeman, after a while, "barber's block? That's what it is, eh?" Then his professional suspicion returned to him: "What are you doing with it in the middle of the night, anyway?"

The little man looked about him with affected care. Leaning toward the policeman, he whispered: "I'm going to marry her."

"Now then," said the policeman, "none of your nonsense." Policemen don't mind the state your hands are in."

"What's the matter with my 'ands?" asked the little man, stopping pugnaciously.

"Now, don't try and make a fool of me. You haven't got the hands of a hairdresser. My good man, nearly all your nails are broken, and you've got machine oil into the skin of every finger."

"Well, I never! One nousey Parker after the other! And what's it got to do with you, I'd like to know?"

"Nothing. That's why I'm interfering with it. Look here, I don't want to do you a bad turn. If I'd wanted to, I had my chance ten minutes ago. I only had to point out to the policeman that you said you were a hairdresser and that you had the hands of a laborer. He'd have wanted to know more; he'd have wanted to know why a man with machine oil over his dislike humor; it agitates their mind, interferes with its smooth working.

"Where are you taking it?"

"Once before," said the little man, calmly, "I say Acton. It's still Acton. And if you want to know from what happy home I took this young lady, I'll tell you that I bought 'er this afternoon at Bunley's Sale Rooms, price ten shillings, sale price, shop-soiled, but not as you'd notice it. And ain't the girl worth every penny of it?"

"What are you going to do with it?" asked the policeman, discomfited by the tone that only the gutters of great cities can lay upon the tongue.

"I told you I was going to marry 'er," said the little man, injuredly. "But I don't want to deceive an innocent child. I'm going to put 'er in my winder when I get to Acton. Fact is, I'm a 'air-dresser. I'm going to put 'air on 'er, curls. She'll look that lovely!"

"All right," said the policeman, sullenly, "you can go on."

"Like to give 'er a kiss?" asked the little man, as he pulled up the sack. The policeman did not reply, but walked, or rather loomed away, as is the habit of his profession.

The little man gave me a wink: "That shut 'is mug for 'im, didn't it, guv'nor? These cops, you know, they're that official."

"Yes, they are a bit officious," I said. "Still, it's their trade."

"And a dirty trade it is, too," said the little man, as he fastened the sack over the uncanny burden. "Now I got to hoist this on my back again." His short arms struggled helplessly with his burden. So, seizing the bundle, which was not heavy, but rather cumbersome, I managed to get it on to his shoulder again.

"Thank you, guv'nor," he said, looking at me with interest, obviously not accustomed to the assistance of men in tails and white waistcoats. "Expect me an 'im'd be talking now if you 'adn't 'appened along. Those cops, they don't mind what they do to a pore man; 'e'd 'ave wanted to know this 'ere, and that 'ere, wasting 'is time the night."

Somehow we were walking along together toward the west; I had my reason for this already; the little man talked abundantly, but from time to time he looked up to me, puzzled, and perhaps annoyed. Probably he would have told me to let him alone, if it had not been for my size. He was a small man; and I happen to be one of those people who cannot get into an omnibus with their hat on. And I am broad in proportion. I culminated over the little man like a mountain; no doubt this embarrassed him. Still, after a while, we crossed the road; at the corner of a street he attempted to get rid of me, remarking: "So long, guv'nor," and paused. "That's where I turn off," he remarked.

"Indeed?" I said. "You're going out of your way. That goes north. Acton lies west."

He flung me a malevolent glance: "Well, now you mention it, that's a funny thing. I got it into my 'ead that I 'ad to turn off 'ere. Thank you for mentioning it, guv'nor. So long." He went on westward, but I followed him. His now became a sulky mood; he refused to talk, and so we went for several hundred yards. At last, however, I determined to play my card. So I said: "You're a hair-dresser, aren't you?"

"Yes."

"Is yours a good business?"

"So, so."

"What do you do?"

"Shaving, 'air - dressing, ladies mostly."

"Indeed? How is it that the ladies don't mind the state your hands are in?"

"What's the matter with my 'ands?" asked the little man, stopping pugnaciously.

"Now, don't try and make a fool of me. You haven't got the hands of a hairdresser. My good man, nearly all your nails are broken, and you've got machine oil into the skin of every finger."

August.

The cows stood in a thunder cloud of flies

As lagging through the field with trailing feet

I kicked up scores of skipper butterflies

That hopped a little way, lazy with heat.

The wood I sought was in deep shelter sunk,

Though clematis leaves shone with a glossy sweat

And creeping over ground and up tree-trunk

The ivy in the sun gleamed bright and wet.

Songs brief as Chinese poems the birds sang

And insects of all sheens, blue, brown and yellow,

Darted and twisted in their flight and hung

On air that groaned like hoarse sweet violoncello.

From that small sun patching the wood with light—

O strange to think—hung all things that have breath,

Trees, insects, cows, even moths that fly by night

And man, and life in every form—and death.

A Window.

I like to look from a window
Down on the men on the street;
The very tall men are very small men,
And some of them have no feet.

I like to stand near a window
And talk to the twittering birds;
And whenever they near me I know
That they hear me
Whispering words and words.

I like to be near a window—
The far-away world seems odd;
And when I peep up at the Overturned
Cup,
I know I am peeping at God.

If only I had a window!
A little one, two by three—
Oh, whenever I went, wherever I went
I'd take it along with me!

RUN DOWN IN HEALTH

Why Many Men and Women Are Badly Handicapped.

When you are so run down in health that it impairs the efficiency of your work as well as your power to enjoy your leisure hours, or obtain rest, it is time you looked to the cause. If you do not, a serious breakdown is almost sure to result. In nearly all cases this condition, which doctors usually describe as general debility, is due to poor blood—blood that is deficient in red corpuscles. When the blood is thin and weak your whole system suffers. You lose appetite, have no energy, your nerves trouble you and you feel restless.

What you need is help to build up your blood and you should begin at once to make your blood rich and red by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. You will soon notice the difference in your health by a better appetite and increased vigor. The reason is that the new blood created by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills stimulates all the organs of the body to healthy activity and so the system gains nourishment and strength. If you are weak or out of sorts, begin gaining new strength to-day by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. "I was in a badly run down condition," says Mrs. J. Potter, of Winifred, Alta., "when I began using Williams' Pink Pills, and they fully restored my health. I strongly recommend this medicine to all weak people."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Duke of York Invites 400 Boys to Lunch at Palace

Two hundred boys recruited from English factories had luncheon in Buckingham Palace to-day as guests of the Duke of York. With them were 200 students from Eton and Harrow, the sons of England's aristocracy. The luncheon was a preliminary to the departure of this novel "400" for a seaside camp at New Romney, where the boys will spend a week together under the Duke's supervision.

The camp is the Duke's favorite welfare scheme and he established it in hope of promoting better understanding between the employers and employees of the future.

The Home: Too Often No Longer a Home.

That's a somewhat startling headline, isn't it? But it was intended to attract attention because it carries with it a thought worthy of serious consideration.

During the Summer months many new homes are started: but how they will develop is uncertain. Some of them, undoubtedly, will develop into everything a home should be—a place to live in and a place to love; then others will develop into a place to get away from.

The piano has done much toward making the home "a place to live in and a place to love"; but other things have made other places seem more desirable than home. Restlessness seems to have become a positive national malady. To speak frankly, while we freely admit the many blessings derived from the automobile, we feel that it has been a somewhat detrimental factor toward the consolidation of home life.

It has been said that "the good home is the strongest unit of any nation." We believe that this statement is true. Granting the truth of this statement, it naturally follows that anything that will tend to make a home more beautiful, more attractive, a place not only to sleep in, but to dwell in; a place not only for a shelter, but for a personal source of joy—that thing is very worthy of the home.

Yes, it's music we have in mind—music and instruments of music.

The home should not be "a place to get away from"; it should be, as before stated, "a place to live and a place to love," and music will add to the joy and happiness and contentment that should be found in every home in the nation.

SAVE THE CHILDREN

In Summer When Childhood Ailments Are Most Dangerous.

Mothers who keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house may feel that the lives of their little ones are reasonably safe during the hot weather. Stomach troubles, cholera infantum and diarrhoea carry off thousands of little ones every summer, in most cases because the mother does not have a safe medicine at hand to give promptly. Baby's Own Tablets relieve these troubles, or if given occasionally to the well child they will prevent their coming on. The Tablets are guaranteed by a government analyst to be absolutely harmless even to the newborn babe. They are especially good in summer because they regulate the bowels and keep the stomach sweet and pure. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The Door of Empire.

It might well be said that with the acquisition of the famous Rock of Gibraltar Britain laid the foundation stone of our Empire in the East. The anniversary of that important event, which took place 222 years ago, fell on the last Sunday of July.

Sir George Rooke, to whom the honor of having captured it from the Spaniards belongs, was sent to the Mediterranean for quite another purpose, but had to commence his return journey without having accomplished anything of importance.

On his way home, merely to relieve the tedium of a rather boring voyage, he helped himself to Gibraltar, now one of the most important of our possessions from a strategic point of view.

The Covered Bridge.

There, from its entrance, lost in mat-ted vines,—

Where in the valley foams a water-fall,—

Is glimpsed a ruined mill's remaining wall;

Here, by the road, the ox-eye daisy mines

Hot brass and bronze; the trumpet-trailer shines

Red as the plumage of the cardinal, Faint from the forest comes the rain-crow's call

Where dusty Summer dreams among the pines,

This is the spot where Spring writes wild-flower verses

In primrose pink, while, drowsing o'er his reins,

The ploughman, all unnoticing, plods along;

And where the Autumn opens weedy purses

Of sleepy silver, while the corn-heaped wains

Humble the bridge like some deep throat of song.

Motorcycle Runs Twelve Days Without Motor Stop.

The Toronto Motorcycle Club, of Toronto, Canada, recently conducted an unique test, and in doing so broke two world's records. In co-operation with a Toronto motorcycle dealer that Club furnished three riders who piloted a Harley-Davidson single-cylinder motorcycle, in relays for twelve days and nights without stopping the motor. The object of the test was to establish the efficiency of this new type of motorcycle.

Walter Andrews, Limited, local Harley-Davidson dealer, reports that in the Toronto test the new single traveled a total of 7,344 miles without stopping the motor and averaged exactly 85 miles per gallon of gasoline. Although the riders were forced to drive through heavy rains for seven days and experienced a heavy hail storm, never once did the motor falter or was it permitted to stop. There was no attempt to make record time in this test, the drivers being held down to an average of twenty-five miles per hour. The previous World's record for a test of this sort was made at Amsterdam, Holland, establishing a mark of 6,213.7 miles and an average of 82.02 miles per gallon of gasoline.

Hay Fever.

Can we hope to rid the Province of Hay Fever? The ideal would be to exterminate the irritating plants. Since pollen is scattered 100 miles, no local effort would avail—it must be a concentrated movement throughout each and every district. This may be too much to expect, but in certain localities which have prided themselves on their health resort advantages, a real effort is being made to pull all ragweed before it pollinates. Prizes are given for the largest number of uprooted plants and contests are keen between groups of children and grown-ups in the various school sections.

If ragweed and other irritating plants cannot be totally destroyed, and if it is true that large numbers of our people in Ontario are suffering from this distressing condition, let us hope the treatment for Hay Fever will very soon be readily available throughout the Province, and at a price which even the poorest of us can pay.

Heedless if thou art heard
Sing thy full song aloud.

For the Boys and Girls

A FIGHT IN THE JUNGLE

By David Ker.

It was drawing toward evening on one of the hottest days of an unusually hot summer in Upper Bengal.

The sun was just beginning to sink, and everything seemed to be waking up from a long sleep.

The great, fan-like palm leaves, which had been drooping lazily on the hot, windless air all day, began to stir and rustle in the evening breeze.

The dead silence was broken by the twittering of birds and the shrill voices of children.

From the little cluster of nest-like hovels of bamboo and dried grass that formed the "village" of Rajghur, a group of slim, dark-faced Hindu women were seen coming down the river with their earthen pitchers on their heads.

The men, raising themselves drowsily from the reed mats on which they had been sleeping all afternoon, began to light the small fires which were to cook their supper.

Further out from the village, and a little higher up the stream, a herd of tame buffaloes, which two native boys had been watching, were just beginning to think about their supper.

All through the day it had been much too hot to eat; but the cool evening air had given the beasts an appetite, and they were now munching away vigorously.

"Let them feed, Shumshir," said the elder of the two herd boys to his brother, who seemed anxious to be moving. "There's no need to drive them home yet."

"But it will soon be dark, Lallah, and then the wild beasts may come," suggested the young brother, looking nervously at the great forest of feathery "tiger-grass" more than fifteen feet high, that shut in on every side the open space in which they were.

"What if they do come?" cried Lallah, boldly. "We need not fear any of them, so long as we keep close to the buffaloes."

In truth, the East Indian buffalo, which is much larger and more powerful than the American bison, or the black buffalo of Bulgaria, is quite equal to either as a fighter.

He will face the Bengal tiger himself and not unfrequently gets the best of the battle.

He has no mane like the bison, but is covered with short, strong, grayish-black hair, and has very long and sharp horns, turned back so far as almost to touch his shoulder.

Little Shumshir, slightly reassured by his brother's words, drew a wheaten cake from his white cotton waistcloth—which was all the clothing he had—and began to eat, while Lallah paddled his bare feet in a small pool of water in the centre of the clearing, and laughed as he watched the glittering spray splash up all around him.

Suddenly two or three of the older buffaloes left off feeding, raised their heads, and sniffed the air uneasily, as if scenting the approach of danger.

The boys were too much occupied, one with his play, and the other with his food, to notice this warning movement.

But it seemed to be a false alarm, after all—for a few moments later the disturbed beasts were grazing again as quietly as before.

Lallah had knelt down beside the pool, and was scooping up the water with his joined hands and flinging it into the air.

Shumshir thrust the last morsel of the cake into his mouth, and got up to cross the clearing and join his brother.

Poor Lallah, busied with his sport, never heard the stealthy rustle in the long grass behind him, nor saw the cruel, greenish-yellow eyes that glared at him from the thicket.

His first warning was a hoarse bellow from the herd of buffaloes as they rushed together in a confused mass, snorting wildly with mingled rage and terror.

"Bagh! bagh! bhair!" (tiger! tiger! brother!) screamed Shumshir, scurrying up the nearest tree like a wildcat.

Poor Lallah, aroused too late, sprang up in dismay.

But unfortunately his foot slipped on the muddy ground, and he fell on his face just as the tiger drew itself together for the fatal spring.

Another instant and all would have been over with him; but at that moment an unexpected ally interposed.

The buffaloes, ten in number, had huddled together beneath the shade of an enormous banyan tree, the pillar-like roots of which protected them on all sides but one.

This movement left exposed to attack a calf which had been feeding near the pool, and its mother, the largest and strongest buffalo of the whole herd, rushed forward so fiercely to protect her nursing that the tiger was startled, and drew back.

An instant later, Lallah was safe among the clustering boughs of the banyan.

But, although baffled for the moment, the striped gentleman had no idea of losing his supper so easily.

Most of the buffaloes were evidently too old and tough for him; but the calf was worth having, and have it he would.

He saw danger, however, in the mother's broad front and mighty horns, and made his approach warily.

The boys, who were watching the fight from the branches overhead, saw the great body slide along the ground, like a cat, toward the expectant buffalo.

Then came the flash of a yellow streak through the air, a tremendous roar, and then the two enemies drew back from each other, and the first "round" of this strange combat was over.

After a momentary pause, they approached one another again, the tiger limping from a heavy knock on the fore-shoulder, and the buffalo's dark-gray hide showing a narrow stripe of red where the terrible claws had grazed it in passing.

This time the "royal Bengal" sprang aside from his enemy's formidable front, like a boxer dodging a blow, and attempted to seize her unprotected flank.

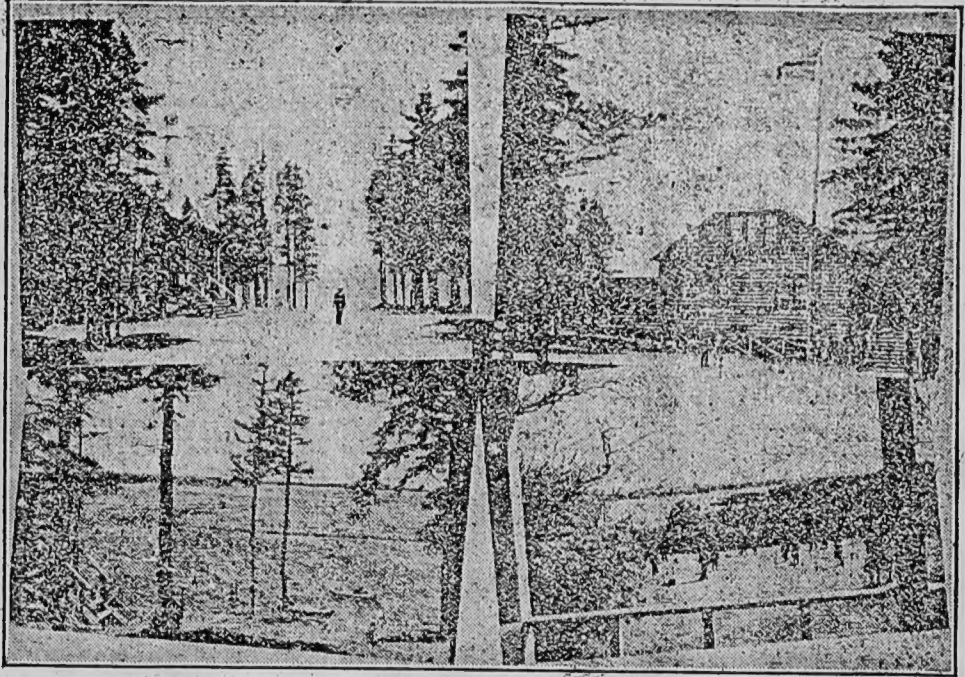

But the huge black head wheeled round with amazing agility, and dealt him a blow which fairly knocked him off his legs and sent him rolling on the grass several paces away.

"Shavash, sundri!" (well done, my beauty!) cried Lallah, from the tree.

Mrs. Buffalo darted forward upon her wounded enemy, with more haste than good speed, for, as she lowered her head to strike him, the enraged tiger sprang upon her back, plunging his sharp claws into her sides, while he strove to break her spine with his teeth.

But before the greedy jaws could

New Lodge Delights Visitors to Pictou

Wentworth Park Lodge, near Pictou, N.S., which was recently opened by the Canadian National Railways, has already proved its popularity with Canadian and American holiday-makers. The Lodge is located on Northumberland Strait, near Pictou, N.S., and consists of a group of rustic bungalows surrounding a central lodge. Guests have the advantage of both fresh water and sea bathing, boating and fishing, while the Pictou Golf Club, only a short distance away, is open to those who are lovers of the Royal and Ancient Game.

make good their hold upon the broad, smooth back, the buffalo rushed furiously against the terrific force upon the hard trunk.

There was a dull crash, a hoarse, bubbling growl, and then the great yellow body fell heavily to the ground—a crushed, shapeless, lifeless mass.

The victorious buffalo, regardless of her own wounds, ran at once to lick and fondle her calf, while the two herd boys, sliding down from their perches, made the air ring with shouts of triumph.

Hardly Worth Living.

The major, not feeling very well, paid a visit to the doctor to be examined. The doctor could tell there was nothing much the matter with him, unless it was that he was a little depressed.

"Do you ever go to theatres?" he asked.

"No!" said the major.

"Do you smoke?"

"No!"

"Do you drink?"

"No!" was the reply again.

"Are you married?"

"Most decidedly, no!"

"Tell me," said the doctor, "what have you been living for all these years?"

PRINCE PRAISES EMPIRE WOODS

The Prince of Wales seized an opportunity the other day to speak some words of commendation of Canadian enterprise and Canadian products. He was called upon to deliver an address upon forestry in the British Empire to a gathering in London. He noted that many varieties of wood were to be found within the British Empire and that the countries of the Empire were giving attention to forestry problems. He spoke of the reforestation program being carried out by the British Government through its Forestry Commission. Already considerable tracts of land that were formerly forests have been replanted with trees and other land, not his recent timber, timbered, has been planted. South Africa and the States of Australia, too, were carrying out tree-planting schemes. As for Canada, His Royal Highness said the Dominion had "buckled to the task" of surveying its "vast resources and protecting them from fire and reckless exploitation." He added, "Canada produces the finest soft wood lumber in the world, as we saw at Wembley." The Prince directed attention to the opportunity for trade in lumber within the Empire. "Considering what excellent timber of every kind the Empire produces," he said, "it appears rather unfortunate that the United Kingdom should expend so much as it does on foreign supplies." He pointed out that last year the people of the United Kingdom paid more than $230,000,000 for imported timber of which only thirteen per cent. came from Empire sources. "I would appeal," he said, "to large users of timber, such as railway companies and builders, to bear this in mind when placing orders." In that connection, it may be noted that newspaper despatches from Great Britain reported some months ago the intention of some British interests to look for certain forest products in Canada. Those despatches spoke of orders to be placed in this country for railway ties and other timber. It was said that Canada's display of woods and articles made from wood at the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley had helped to secure orders for Canadian goods. The Prince of Wales suggests that if British buyers of timber can secure their supplies on satisfactory terms from sources within the Empire they might well do so instead of going for those supplies to sources outside the Empire. With that doctrine the people of the Dominions will agree. They will also be gratified to observe that the Prince is anxious to promote Great Britain's purchases as well as Great Britain's sales within the Empire and so foster a trade that will be beneficial to all parts of the Empire.

LUNENBURG VILLAGERS STUNNED BY LOSS OF 26 SEAMEN ON FISHING SCHOONER

Halifax, N.S.—"The sea is strewn with wreckage, but there is no sign of life." Such was the dread message that came through the air when the Canadian Government ship Lady Laurier had concluded her second day of search over the waste of waters lying around Sable Island for the crew of the wrecked Lunenburg fishing schooner Sylvia Mosher. What little ray of hope had flickered in the hearts of men and women in Lunenburg County throughout the day had gone entirely out when night came and there was no word from the great void of waters that held within it the mystery of life and death.

From all the countryside round about Lunenburg, where these twenty-six men had lived, and where their families are now amid the sorrow of their great loss, word came that hope had given way to that spirit of courageous resignation so characteristic of men who go down to the sea in ships. In these little villages business is at a standstill. These have been days and nights of fear and hope alternating in eager watchfulness—people stand around as if stunned, so great has been the shock of the news of the disaster—and the numbing ache of hopes dispelled.

Warden Romkey telephoned from La Have there is now no hope that any of the men were saved. "We have accepted what seems to be the inevitable. The oldest fishermen here, men of years of experience of the sea, say there is nothing to do but meet the situation. Business is at a standstill, so shocked are the people. La Have Island had suffered the most, because nearly half of the crew of the Mosher were from that part of the county. What makes the loss so poignant is the realization that the best and brightest of our youth are gone."

The feeling in Lunenburg Town, where Captain Mosher, the skipper of the Sylvia Mosher, lived and where his wife and little daughter are watching amid dying hope and increasing despair, is that nothing further will be heard of the crew of the schooner.

Hon. J. J. Kinley quoted his father, who knows the vicinity of Sable Island as well as any one living in Lunenburg, as having stated that he believed the Mosher endeavored to work out of the storm, and with one of the changes of the wind was blown back on the northern part of the island. It would be quite possible that she had lost her dories, the same as the other schooner, Mary Ruth, and when she struck there was no way of escape for the crew, and their bodies are among the sandbars of that part of the island.

Hon. Geo. H. Bolvin
Former minister of customs in the Canadian government and a Canadian delegate to the Knights of Columbus convention at Philadelphia, died in that city on Aug. 7.

JURY FINDS DEATH FROM POISON LIQUOR

Inquest Held on Victim of Allanburg Tragedy—Northern Fatality Result of Poison.

Welland, Ont.—That Reuben Upper, the first of the three victims of the wood alcohol poisoning at Allanburg, came to his death through acute alcoholism was the verdict returned at the coroner's inquest. The jury was unable, however, to determine the source of the supply.

Of the seven arrested in connection with the affair, and who are being held on the charge of manslaughter, only one was mentioned, and he is Nick Ricci, the Thorold taxi driver. Several witnesses claimed that Ricci was a frequent visitor to the Upper residence, and that he at times delivered a parcel, the contents of which was unknown.

North Bay, Ont.—Testimony given at the inquest opened at Port Loring into the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Carey tended to show that they died from the effects of poison liquor brought into the North by a party of Buffalo tourists, headed by Dr. Bayer, a Buffalo dentist, and given to Carey by them as a bonus for his services as cook on a fishing trip. Dr. Smylie, of Parry Sound, who conducted an autopsy on the bodies, testified at the inquest that death in both cases was due to alcoholic poisoning. Joseph Kane, Mrs. Hutchins and Miss Hutchins, relatives of the Careys, are all ill from drinking the liquor, but are expected to recover.

It was brought out at the inquest that following the fishing trip one bottle of liquor was given Carey by the tourists. Carey opened the bottle last Saturday and took a number of drinks, giving one to his wife.

Epsom's 96-Year-Old Grandstand is Doomed

Epsom's racecourse, where the world famous Derby has been run annually since 1780, is to lose its ninety-six-year-old grandstand after this year's race on June 2. The old stand, which holds only 6,000 persons, is to be replaced by one accommodating 20,000. While plans have been drawn for the new stand, a movement has been started to make the structure the largest and finest in the world.

It is pointed out that the Flemington stand in Australia accommodates 70,000 persons, and that as the attendance at the Derby averages 300,000 to 500,000 racegoers, Epsom should have one seating at least 100,000 persons.

Would Dwell Again Beneath British Flag

Toronto.—Anxious to come to Canada, more than a dozen British-born residents of the United States have written C. C. Hele, Director of Publicity for the Ontario Government, during the past week, for information as to suitable locations within the confines of the Province.

"Simply cases," Mr. Hele puts it, "of wanting to get back to British soil, and under the British flag again."

According to Mr. Hele, most of the writers have lived in the States for a number of years, and are fairly well-to-do.

Robert Scott Sentenced to Life Term for Murder

Chicago, Ill.—Robert Scott, who pleaded guilty to murder in connection with the slaying of a Chicago drug clerk, Joseph Maurer, for whose killing his brother Russell is under sentence to be hanged in October, was taken to Joliet to begin serving a life term for the crime in State Prison.

MIDLAND FIBRE PLANT DESTROYED BY HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLAR FIRE

Midland, Ont., Aug. 15.—A disastrous fire occurred here to-night, involving a loss running into $100,000 or more, when the International Fibreboard plant was practically wiped out. The outbreak bore all the appearance of an explosion, so rapid was the spread of the flames.

The plant was equipped with a modern sprinkler system, but it and the best efforts of the brigade were unable to cope with the fire in the main buildings.

The warehouse is the only part to remain standing. As the wind was blowing from the southeast, no damage was done to the sawmill of Manley Chew.

The fibreboard plant employed 140 men working day and night, the night shift having gone off duty when the outbreak occurred.

This plant was first organized as the George Bay Shook Mills and later taken over by Firstbrook, Ltd., who sold it to the present owners two years ago, after their Penetang branch was burned.

FOUR PERSONS KILLED IN LONG ISLAND WRECK

Fifty or More Injured When Train Runs Into Open Switch.

New York.—Two persons were killed, two others are believed to have died, and between 50 and 60 more were injured when a crack train of the Long Island Railroad, running 20 minutes late, ran into an open switch at Calverton, five miles west of Riverhead, L. I.

Two locomotives were pulling the eight steel cars, the first two of which left the tracks. Both engines were battered and twisted into a mass of wreckage. Engineer William Squires and Fireman John Montgomery, of the first locomotive, were killed instantly. Both lived in Greenport. The crew of the other locomotive leaped to safety.

The first of the passenger cars, a Pullman, buckled upward, twisted slightly to the right, and came crashing down through the roof of the Golden Pickle Works alongside the tracks. It is believed one workman was crushed under the car. The car itself did not turn over, which undoubtedly saved many of the passengers from more serious injury.

The second, a combination car, did turn over, and the most serious injured were passengers in this. There was no fire, however, and the passengers were able to make their way out through doors and windows.

RED LAKE MERCHANT KILLED BY EXPLOSION

Alleged Defective Dynamite Was Stored by Him Near His Store.

Hudson, Ont.—N. T. Faulkenham, pioneer storekeeper of the Red Lake mining field, was killed by an explosion of dynamite near his store. He was a former resident of Matheson, Ont., where two brothers survive him.

Faulkenham had had a case of dynamite returned by a prospector because it was defective. He was storing the explosive in a cave in the rocks a short distance from his store when the explosion occurred.

The body of David Jackson, an employee of the Red Lake Transport Company, was recovered from the whirlpool at the foot of Snake Falls, where he was drowned a week ago.

Britain's Eastern Coast Crumbles Before the Sea

Dunwich, England.—The "tight little island" becomes tighter each year. The silent, incessant warfare between the sea and the coast has again been brought into prominence by the serious erosion of the coast of Essex, making necessary the reconstruction of the London & North-Eastern Railway between Frinton and Walton. The line is to be placed farther inland, but until this work is completed the present line will continue to be used.

Other parts of the East Coast are being eaten away by the sea. At Dunwich the sea has worn inland so far that the remaining portion of the famous Dunwich church tower has been removed for preservation, and the rest of the old town lies beneath the waves. At Holderness the land is fighting a losing battle with the sea. Parts of southeast England are disappearing, and Sussex is losing some 400 acres every year. At Eelsey a boarding house that was built only a few years ago now stands derelict, the waves having encroached into the garden.

Swam Safely to Shore With Child in Her Arms

Kenora, Ont.—Hampered by her clothing and with her 11-month-old baby in her arms, Mrs. A. Walters, a Lakeside resident, swam to safety when thrown from a rowboat by the wash of a passing launch.

Mrs. Walters swam to the dock and was taken from the water by a resident who witnessed the accident.

Mother and child experienced no ill-effects from the accident.

Canadian Railways Killed 42 During July

Ottawa.—Reports made to the Railway Commission show 42 persons were killed and 268 injured on Canadian railroads during the month of July. Of the dead, seven were employees. No passengers were killed. Of the injured, 51 were passengers and 154 employees.

SUFFER FATAL INJURY WHILE REPAIRING ROOF

Stratford Man Succumbs After Fall to Floor of Barn.

Stratford, Aug. 15.—William Orr, aged 43, died early last evening from injuries received in a fall while at work in the barn on Mrs. Robert Crocker's farm, Lot 34, Concession 7, North Easthope, yesterday. The late Mr. Orr, who was employed by Mrs. Crocker to operate her farm, was at work raising the roof of the barn when the accident happened. The roof had sagged several inches during the winter and he was attempting to raise it. Three packs had been placed on the rafters along the side and the roof had been raised some 11 inches when one pack slipped. Mr. Orr was thrown to the floor of the straw shed some 25 feet below, and in the fall sustained a fracture at the base of the skull and had severe internal injuries, causing a fatal hemorrhage. He was however conscious and able to get up and walk to his house, where his condition became worse and he lapsed into unconsciousness.

FOUR MEN KILLED, TRAIN HITS HANDCAR

Two Injured in Accident at Minatree in a Rock Cut.

Fort William, Ont.—Four railway employees were killed and two injured at Minatree, Ont., when a hand-car on which they were riding was struck by a Canadian National freight train in a rock cut.

The dead are: Peter Siggid, aged 47; John Wirinsky, 49; G. Chada, 43; Toni Choisky, 42. The injured are: O. Johnson, foreman, 50, and W. Randall, 45.

The men were a part of a gang repairing the tracks. At the time of the accident it was very foggy.

Canada's Dollar at Premium in Market of New York

New York.—The Bank of Montreal shipped $2,000,000 in gold to Canada, thus raising to $8,500,000 the total of the present bullion movement to the Dominion. It was the fourth shipment within the last ten days. The present movement is attributed by foreign exchange bankers to the large Canadian loans recently brought out in New York. The Canadian dollar was at a premium of 5-32 per cent. in New York.

SOUTHERN ENGLAND TERRORIZED BY MOST SEVERE EARTHQUAKE IN 30 YEARS

London, Aug. 15.—The severest earthquake in Great Britain in thirty years struck Southern England just before 6 o'clock this morning. It was described as being accompanied by a rumbling sound like a railroad train, terminating in an explosive noise. Windows were broken and chimneys were knocked down.

More than thirty towns and cities are reported to have run into streets in their night clothes. In some cases it was an hour before consciousness induced them to enter their homes again. Some townspeople of Andover were terrorized when a train rushed through the streets in his nightshirt shouting: "The end of the world has come." In Hereford the shock caused the clock in the Town Hall to strike three times. Among the places slightly affected was Stratford-on-Avon.

The counties affected were Derbyshire, Somerset, Devonshire, Herefordshire, Warwickshire, Northampton, Leicestershire, Radnorshire and also Bath and Bristol and Landrindon.

In the last five days tremors have been reported from every continent except Australia, being more or less disastrous in the Eastern Mediterranean region and the East Indies. Slight shocks have been felt in England three times in the last two weeks.
